

A NIGHT LIKE THIS (hansbarger)

Might have been a notion
That brought me to you,
You were standing alone and I was drunk
Liquid confidence might have been the start of all of this
But I like to think that it was something in your eyes

Don't you know it's foolish to look so good and so alone.
It just invites trouble like me.
And you're a fine girl and woman clear through,
But you should be more selective who you meet.

I could not have bought or borrowed, stolen a night like this.

I could not have bought or borrowed, stolen a night like this.

I could not have asked for more.

I could not have bought or borrowed, stolen a night like this.

Don't you know it's funny
I swore things like this off once before.
They seem to bring me nothing but pain.
But you standing there before me and you're looking so fin, so fine
It makes me want to start this whole thing over again.

I could not have bought or borrowed, stolen a night like this.

I could not have bought or borrowed, stolen a night like this.

I could not have asked for more.

I could not have bought or borrowed, stolen a night like this.
