

TIME WE WASTED (clark hansbarger)

Why break the dishes to call it quits
Let's just put an end to this foolishness
We've been walking on this edge too long too slip

You cared for me, but not enough
Always trying too call my bluff
We haven't had the kind of love I need for much too long

I think it's time we wasted no more time
In case there is a life out waiting there for you
There are a thousand reasons to hold on another season
But I think it best if we just move along.

I used to try to come home early
And you'd/I'd be waiting at the door
You'd smile and take me too a place we'd never been before.

Outside the window, things are changing.
Another spring has come again.
I come home later every evening, and keep me wondering when.

You and I have done the children songs and sung the lullabies
You and I have done the finger pointing and the wondering why
