

KARMA (hansbarger)

You can live for grace, You can live for glory
You can make up fictions, You can tell your own story
You can ponder the universe, you can sit and worry
You can come to the table, you can take your own journey

*But no matter what you do It'll all come back to you.
Yes, no matter what you do, it'll all come back to you.*

You can blame your parents, you can blame your genes
You can claim that others never ever let you be
You can play self-righteous, you can play the savior
You can steal from the houses of all your neighbors.

CHORUS

I can see by your eyes this is not a surprise
That you got the message long ago
But its always hard to face the truth
When the rains come down and its only you.

You can call it karma, you can call it fate
Call it Jesus, call it cause and effect
You can call it science, you can call it god
In the end, man, you can call it what you can

CHORUS