

SINCE YOU'VE BEEN GONE (hansbarger)

From my seat beside this window, I look down on a street
Filled with lovely people, Filled with possibilities
Of someone who can fill this hole With something I can trust
A sweet love like a candy bar, a metal that don't rust

Now I..... am alone again.
And I..... am sinking like a stone again
Since you've been gone

You are magic to me darling, a rabbit from a hat
You could change this Ace of diamonds to a One Eyed Jack
With a little slight of hand, and a wiggle of your nose
You have turned this three piece life of mine into some raggedy clothes.

Chorus

(bridge)

I once thought a man. Could carry all he'd need
In a satchel in the back seat of a car
But here I am, alone again
Up here wondering where you are

Down below me I can hear the melody
Of a guitar at an open mic.
People lining up to take their turns
While I'm up here hiding from the light

Chorus
