

When We Let Go (allen kitselman)

May the arms of the sky open wide and carry you home

May the journey you embark on be relief from the burdens you have known

The waves crash in and wash our handiwork away

But we can't plan to live in that castle anyway

It's not the castle, it's the memories that stay here in the sand

We will know all we can know- when we let go

May your mother and your father and all the loved ones who have gone on before (you)

Be there to take your hand and greet you at the threshold of the door

CHORUS

When we let go of these roots that we have thrust down in the earth

Every pain, every problem we have fought from our birth

Falls away, when we let go, falls away like tears

We will know all we can know

When we let go of these roots that we have thrust down in the earth

Every pain, every battle we have fought from our birth

Falls away, when we let go, falls away like the years
